

Call for Papers

Journal of African Real Estate Research

Closing date: 28th February 2018

The new issue of the Journal of African Real Estate Research is calling for papers.

The issue is looking for original research contributions to the development of real estate research in Africa. The editors encourage the submission of theoretical and empirical contributions related to African real estate markets, including their structure and workings, and the nature and impacts of efforts that seek to reform them.

To this end, papers may deal with, but are not limited to:

- Property/Asset Valuations;
- Real Estate Investment Trusts;
- Land Administration and Good Governance;
- Property Development;
- Transformation in Real Estate;
- Provision of Affordable Housing;
- Real Estate Legislation and Policy;
- PropTech/Real Estate Technology;
- Maturity of Property Markets;
- Market Studies; and
- Financial Sector Development.

Information regarding submissions:

Manuscripts need to be submitted by 28th February 2018 to be considered. All information relating to submissions and author guidelines can be found on the website:

<https://journals.uct.ac.za/index.php/JARER/about/submissions>

Submitted articles must not have been previously published, nor should they be submitted for consideration for publication elsewhere while under review for this journal.

All papers will be subjected to a double-blind (peer review) referring process. Referees will be drawn from an expert Editorial Board, selected both for their knowledge of African real estate issues and for their knowledge of current real estate research.

Any other relevant information can be accessed via the journal's website:
